The REGISTER to the READER.

HAVING receiv'd the two following humourous Eſſays from different Correſpondents, we ſhall inſert them, as they are innocently merry, without any Alterations or Amendments. We hope a ludicrous Entertainment will now meet with a favourable Reception, ſince we have promis'd to ſtudy Variety, and divine Compoſitions will not hit every Taſt. 'Tis impoſſible, we know very well, for the moſt celebrated Writers to pleaſe ALL; and ſo capricious are the Tempers of ſome Men, that nothing will ever oblige them: All therefore that we ſhall aim at, will be to humour and indulge as many of our good-natur'd Readers, as poſſibly we can; and we ſhall ſit down contented with the ſecret Satisfaction that we never publiſh any Thing on purpoſe to offend the Publick.

To the GENTLEMEN of the REGISTERIAL SOCIETY.

SIRS, Hoxton, Jan. 5th, 1730.

THE following Minutes having been taken by the Secretary of a Society of Gardeners, at one of their late Meetings in our Town, I have carefully tranſcrib'd them, and have leave from the Chairman to expoſe them to publick View, if you think they may prove an agreeable Amuſement. I am

Yours, &c. R. R.

At a Meeting held, &c. Jan. 3d, 1730. Preſent, Father Adam in the Chair.

Abram, Iſaac, Jacob, — Reuben, Simeon, Levi, — and the reſt of their Brethren.

JOSEPH, Secretary to the Society.

A Motion was made by our Brother REUBEN that he had ſomething new to offer, as ſoon as the Society ſhould be diſpos'd to liſten to his Propoſal.

Order'd, that all other Affairs ſhould be poſtpon'd, and that REUBEN ſhould be heard; whereupon he roſe up, and as ſoon as there was a profound Silence, made his Addreſs to the Chairman, in the following Manner.

All Evils have their Beginning from ſome malevolent Cauſe, and till that Cauſe is remov'd, or the Thing ſubjected to the Evil is deſtroy'd, continue to torment us. Immorality and Prophaneneſs have been the real Cauſes of all the Evils that Mankind have ever been viſited with, and ſincere Repentance has often remov'd them: Which I beg leave to demonſtrate by an Inſtance or two, immediately applicable to our ſelves.

The Egyptians are the People we firſt read of, who for their Sins were puniſh'd with a Plague of Locuſts. The ſacred Text tells us, "The Evil of them was very grievous; "they darken'd the Land, they went over all the Country, "they devour'd every green Thing; they eat up all the Fruits "of the Earth, &c." Our Fraternity muſt undoubtedly have been very great Sufferers by this Plague.

MOSES, after he had brought the Children of Iſrael out of Egypt, denounced a terrible Judgment againſt them, in Caſe of their Diſobedience: "That they ſhould be de- "vour'd by Locuſts, Palmer-Worms, Caterpillers, and o- "ther peſtiferous Vermin, which ſhould deſtroy the Labours of "their Hands, and eat up the Fruit of the Ground." This pernicious Race of Animals more directly concern the Brethren of our Profeſſion than any other, as being deſtructive of our Well-Being, by depriving us of the Reward of our Labours, which can only make Life comfortable.

The laſt Spring I ſow'd in my Garden ſome of the beſt Cabbage Seed I could procure; which ſprang up according to Expectation, and gave me Hopes of a tolerable Crop: I tranſplanted and remov'd my young Plants after the moſt agreeable Manner, and frequently obſerving them, was pleas'd with the Proſpect I had of being paid for my Trouble. After a while I perceiv'd that a Sort of Spawn had ſettled on ſome of the Leaves, which in a ſhort Time, became a Multitude of living Creatures, and daily encreas'd: Theſe Creatures we commonly call GRUBS; they are a voracious Race of Animals, and are the Deſtruction of every Thing they happen to fix on, as I too experimentally found; for they firſt devour'd the Outskirts, and afterwards the Hearts of my Plants; rendring what might otherwiſe have been uſeful to many Perſons in humane Life, good for nothing.

Now I am of Opinion that this Grubean Race are the Deſcendants of the Egyptian Locuſts, becauſe they ſo cloſely copy their Original; and that the Palmer-Worms and Caterpillers, may be a ſpurious Offspring produc'd by the Locuſts, as that Renegado Prieſt, Sergius, and that Quack Doctor, Mohammed, brought forth the Koran. I having been thus prejudic'd by this pernicious Vermin, have preſum'd to bring my Caſe on the Carpet; hoping that it may enter into the Thoughts of ſome here preſent, to exhibit a Remedy, that may prevent the like Misfortunes for the future. After a ſhort Pauſe our learned Father Adam thus harangu'd the Company:

Brethren, that this Grubean Race is a ſore Evil admits of no Diſpute; but that they derive their Origin from the Egyptian Locuſts remains a Doubt with me. Indeed they are both Plagues, and much of the ſame Nature; they both devour the Green Things; and deſtroy what might be of much Benefit in human Life. But we are told there are to be no more ſuch Locuſts as the Egyptians were peſter'd with, which plainly intimates that the Grubs are of a different Species, how nearly ſoever they may be allied in Point of Manners and Behaviour.

I believe they are of a more modern Date (tho' antient too) and that they are of an Engliſh Extraction; for my two foreign Friends Orangerie and Myrtillo ſay, Spain and Italy don't know what they are; and this Notion ſeems to carry ſome Face of Reaſon with it, becauſe the Word has no Place in any Foreign Dictionary; ſo if you pleaſe, we will call this Evil our own.

Now to preſcribe a Remedy for this Diſeaſe will be no eaſy Task. I know ſome have thought Smoke and Fire would ſoon deſtroy them, and others that Tobacco Duſt or Pepper would ſuffocate them; but this is more Coſt than Advantage, and therefore we had better endure them, than take ſo much Trouble about them; and let their own Endeavours be their Puniſhment.

Says Abram, I can't ſee of what Importance it is to us to trace their Pedigree; but thus much is agreed on, that they are a Nuſance, and as ſuch ought to be remov'd. They are Deſtroyers of many a good Plant, and as ſuch ſhould be puniſh'd; and I am humbly of Opinion a Way may be found out to ſtop the growing Evil and prevent its Malignity; but this muſt be left to the Conſideration of every Member here preſent till our next Meeting, as being a Work of Time.

After Abram had ſat down, our honeſt Friend Iſaac began; Gentlemen, Grub is an old Engliſh Word, and ſignifies to dig in the Earth; as we ſay to Grub up a Tree, that is to dig it down; and we call a Fellow who ſweeps the Kennels, and pokes in the Mire to find Pins, old Nails, or any other trivial Things, a Grubber; which makes me think that a Street near Finſbury was formerly the Habitation of theſe People, and therefore named GRUBSTREET. I am of the ſame Mind with our worthy Father Adam, that a Way may be thonght on againſt our next Meeting, to prevent the Ill thoſe Diminutive Grubs (our Friend Reuben has given us a Narrative of) may do for the future; and therefore requeſt it may be poſtpon'd, to ſome other Opportunity.

To which the Society agreed. Then our Brother Iſaac went on thus. Gentlemen,

We all agree that theſe Grubs are a Plague to our Fraternity, that they are an ill-natured Race of Animals, devouring the Leaves, and then the Heart of a good Plant, that otherwiſe would be uſeful to Mankind; but I can inform you of a more abominable Race of Animals, who not only devour Leaf and Heart, but even Root and Branch; rend'ring a tolerable Plant that (if rightly uſed) might be ſerviceable, only fit for a Jakes; and do this without any Advantage to themſelves, but meerly out of Spleen and Ill-nature to the Owner. Father Adam (as the Mouth of the Company) ſaid, Brother Iſaac, we don't doubt but your Information will be juſt, and therefore requeſt you would proceed.

This new Grubean Race, then ſaid Iſaac, are a contemptible Set of Men. They derive their Original from the antient Grubs (or Grubbers) who inhabited Grubſtreet. I know ſome will have it, that this Street took its Name from one GRUB, who built Part of it, and that this GRUB was the Father of all the Grubs (or Grubbers) that have ſince lived. But be that as it may; this Race of Mortals bear an exact Correſpondence with the Grubbers or Kennel-Rakers before-mentioned; for the Grubbers procure a Livelihood by poking in the Dirt, ſweeping the Kennels, &c. Juſt ſo do the Grubeans, by ſearching into Books for little Slips, ſmall Miſtakes, inconſiderable Errors and trifling Obſervations. And if any Thing of this Kind can be met with, 'tis enough to damn the whole Piece, and make the Author appear a Fool. The Grubbers ſearch for Bread—So do the Grubs. The Grubbers find ſmall trifling Things—So do the Grubs. The Grubbers make the moſt of what they get—The Grubs make a Mountain of a Mole Hill. And ſo the Parallel may be drawn to a great Length by comparing them in every Particular.

Our Brother Jacob here replied. Really this Grubean Race are the very Counterpart of the Egyptian Locuſts: And may be attended with as diſmal Circumſtances, if not timely looked after; and therefore, as our Brother Iſaac drew a Parallel (I think aptly) between the Grubbers and Grubs, I will draw another between the Egyptian Locuſts and the Engliſh Grubeans.

The Locuſts eat up all the Green Things.

The Grubs devour all the new (or young) Things within their Reach; and ſome in Embrio.

The Locuſts went over the Land.

The Grubs with their Malice and Ill-nature endeavour to do ſo too.

The Locuſts devour'd all.

The Grubs ſpare none.

The Locuſts darken'd the Land.

The Grubs, by diſcountenancing Things well intended, promote as much as they can, Ignorance, the worſt Sort of Darkneſs.

The Locuſts were a Plague to the People.

The Grubs are an unſufferable one too.

The Locuſts, on the Repentance of the Egyptians, diſappear'd.

The Grubs, without Repentance, will be remov'd too.

The Locuſts were driven into the Sea.

The Grubs will ſoon be deſtroy'd; and then perhaps it may be ſaid (as Hugh Peters ſaid of the Swine) The Devil has brought his Hogs to a fine Market.

'Tis ſomething ſtrange a Body of Men ſhould ſet themſelves up to make a Merit of other Men's Faults; They muſt of Courſe be deſpicable themſelves, becauſe they take Pleaſure in making others ſo.

I remember in the late War Time, we had many Manuſcripts to the Flying Poſt bawl'd about the Streets, with abundance of News in them, but ſcarce a Word of Truth. By this Method, that Paper gain'd the Name of the Lying Poſt, and was call'd Grubſtreet News; and ſtill it is a common Appellation, when we hear a full and true Account cry'd by our Doors, 'tis Grubſtreet, all Grubſtreet.

I think 'tis pity that ſo many of his Majeſty's good Subjects as inhabit in that Street ſhould be thus abuſed, by having ſo much Falſhood and Scurrility father'd on them, by a Parcel of Myrmidons, Garret-Mowers, Quacks, and Hackneys, who have no other Way of Living, than what they get at the Expence of other Men's Reputation. I deſign therefore to draw up a proper Petition to ſome Perſons in Power, praying that all Venders and Diſperſers of Bombaſt, Fuſtian, Scurrility, Nonſenſe, and other unmarketable Wares, commonly called Grubſtreet News, may be oblig'd to ſerve as Pioneers in the Artillery Company, and be diſtinguiſhed from others by large Whiskers. Order'd, that the ſaid Petition be drawn up and tranſcrib'd fair againſt the next general Meeting, that every Member may ſubſcribe the ſame. And then they adjourn'd.

The GRUBSTREET BALLARD-SINGER.

YE merry, verſifying Nine,
To whom all Poetaſters whine,
CLIO, EUTERPE, bonny Laſſes,
With ſcarce a Rag to hide your A——;
Or, if you're buſy, and can't tend me,
Deſire his Godſhip then to ſend me
MELPOMENE, to help me ſing,
GOD proſper long our noble KING,
And our moſt gracious CAROLINE;
Under whoſe Influence we ſee
Halcyon Days: And who but we? —
But theſe are Topicks too ſublime
For ſuch an humble Muſe as mine,
Who us'd to ſtrole about the Town,
With doleful Yell in tatter'd Gown,
Telling what Pleaſures Wives were taking,
Who lov'd the Trade of Basket-making;
How a gay Lord with Wealth and Wit,
Would make a Cuckold of a Cit,
And after give the Pimp a Place,
To make him Pocket the Diſgrace.
But MUM, my Muſe.——————
'Tis neee, Sirs, fit, I let you ſee
My Lineage, and my Pedigree,
And from whence ſprung our Family.
As Poets tell, in a ſmall Town,
In Days of King LAOMEDON,
A Bricklayer, of antient Fame,
Liv'd, and Apollo was his Name.

His Majesty (some Authors own)
Hir'd this merry, sturdy Clown,
To help in building of Troy Town.
But as 'tis now, just so 'twas then,
Of their great Folk not one in ten
E'er paid their Debts:—So poor Apollo
Might for his Money hoop and hollow,
And was oblig'd (as I'm a Sinner)
From Mason to turn Ballad-Singer.
He more could do than great AMPHION,
Who mov'd but Sticks, and Stones, and Iron;
More pow'rful was APOLLO's Lay,
Who could the Rabble draw away,
More senseless, and more deaf than they.
He being dead, his SONS all raise
An Altar to their Father's Praise.
Hence is their mighty PHOEBUS, he,
The Ballard-Singer's DEITY.
HOMER, the blear-ey'd, Grecian Poet,
Whose Work is prais'd by all that know it,
(Tho', I must own, 'tis very odd,
That he should make a DEMI-GOD
Call all the Grecian Chiefs to nought,
About a Wh—re not worth a Groat)
And VIRGIL too, that merry Blade,
Was a great Master of our Trade;
To these, great Sirs, thro' many Nations,
Noted thro' various Generations,
I am a Kin, and sell the Copy,
Of every Bard, quite down to POPPY.
When Head of Grubstreet Poet's hot,
With humming Beer from Pewter Pot,
Who lodges up three Stories high,
Inspir'd by to' Hopes of Applepye,
Or Pudding, the Rewards of Rhimes,
Rings round the same, unvary'd Chimes;
Then hear the cooling, western Breeze,
How soft it whispers thro' the Trees!
Et Cætera, which being made,
And to the Printing-House convey'd,
Thence I receive them, and then sally
Strait to some Market, Street, or Alley,
And sitting down judiciously,
At some convenient Corner by,
Begin to sing:—The People soon
Gather about, to hear the Tune.
One stretches out his Hand, and cries,
Come, let me have it, what's the Price?
But one poor Half-penny, says I,
And sure you cannot that deny?
Here take it then, says he, and throws
The Money: Then away he goes,
Humming it as he walks along,
Endeavouring to learn the Song.
By this, another Chap comes to me;
What Ballads have you, Friend, to shew me?
Here's Gossip Joan, says I, and then, Sir,
DAMON's Complaint, and CELIA's Answer:
But if a Tragic Tale you chuse,
Before the merry, comic Muse,
Here's little JOHN and ROBIN HOOD,
And the two Children in the Wood:
Take them your self, search out the best,
Buy what you like, and leave the rest.
Spending my Time thus every Day,
Homewards at last I make my Way;
Not envying the Rich their State,
Pleas'd with my own propitious Fate.
What more do grave Historians, who extol
Their antient Worthies, when around the Bowl,
Or Poets, Wits, and Criticks, than rehearse
The Songs of some old Bard, renown'd in Verse?

To the AUTHOR.

SIR,

THE following Epitaphs were copied in Stepney-Church-Yard, and are so good, in my Opinion, as to need no Apology for their Publication. I am, &c.

On Mr. CRAB.

Tread, gently, Reader near the Dust,
Committed to this Tomb-Stone's Trust!
For, while 'twas Flesh, it held a Guest,
With universal Love possest,
A Soul, that stemm'd Opinion's Tide,
Did over Sects in Triumph ride;
Yet sep'rate from the giddy Crowd,
And Paths Tradition had allow'd:
Thro' good and ill Reports he past,
Oft censur'd, yet approv'd at last:
Would'st thou his Religion know,
In Brief 'twas this; To all to do,
Just as he would be done unto.
So in kind Natures Laws he stood
A Temple undefil'd with Blood,
A Friend to every Thing was good.
The rest Angels alone can fitly tell.
Learn, Reader! Learn to live as well.

On Dame REBECCA BURY.

Come, Ladies! you that won'd appear
Like Angels fair, come dress you here!
Come dress you at this Marble Stone!
And make that humble Grave your own,
Which once adorn'd as fair a Mind,
As e'er yet lodg'd in Woman-Kind;
So She was dress't, whose humble Life
Was free from Pride, was free from Strife,
Free from all envious Brawls and Jars;
(Of Humane Life the Civil Wars)
Those ne'er disturb'd her peaceful Mind,
Which still was gentle, still was kind:
Her very Looks, her Garb, her Mien
Disclos'd the humble Soul within.
Trace her thro' ev'ry Scene of Life,
View her a Widow, Virgin, Wife,
Still the same humble SHE appears,
The same in Youth, the same in Years;
The same in low, in high Estate,
Ne'er vex'd with this, nor mov'd with that.
Go, Ladies, now! and, if you'd be
As fair, as great, as good as She,
Go, learn of her Humility!

If you will subjoin this other on an Infant, it may be a farther Entertainment to your Readers; it's taken from a Tombstone in a little, obscure Village, that seems to have very little Title to any Thing so elegantly poetical, which renders it the more remarkable.

Read this and weep——but not for me;
Lament thy longer Misery:
My Life was short, my Grief the less;
Blame not my Haste to Happiness!

FOREIGN NEWS.

Arrived Mails.——Friday; one from France.——Monday; one from France, and one from Holland.——Thurſday; one from France, and one from Flanders.

HAGUE, Jan. 5. N. S. The Earl of Cheſterfield continues his Conferences with the Grand Penſionary and their High-Mightineſſes Deputies for Foreign Affairs, touching the mutual Reſolution of Great Britain and this State, not to break with the Court of Vienna, but only to furniſh Spain with the Succours ſtipulated by the Treaty of Seville. His Excellency will put the laſt Hand to that Negotiation before his Departure for London, which (it is thought) will be the latter End of this Month, or the Beginning of next, that he may be at the Meeting of the Britiſh Parliament.

There has been much Whiſpering here, of a private Accommodation between the Emperor, England and Holland, occaſion'd by an Obſervation, that the Earl of Cheſterfield and Count Sinzendorff had been ſeen together at the Grand Penſionary's; but we have it from good Hands, that there is nothing in it, for that thoſe Miniſters met there by Accident, and had no Converſation upon Publick Affairs.

Venice, Dec. 30. N. S. The latter End of laſt Week arrived here an Expreſs, with the diſagreeable News, that the Plague being broke out with great Fury at Niſſa, it communicated itſelf from thence to all Parts of Walachia and Servia; that it was brought into Boſnia by a Turk who came from Niſſa, and ſo had propagated itſelf within ſeven Leagues of our Frontiers in Dalmatia. Hereupon, the Edict of May 1729 is revived: And by that Means the free Communication with Turkiſh Albania, the Countries of Ragouzi, the Mouths of Cattaro, Dalmatia, the adjacent Iſlands, the Coaſts of Auſtria, and other Provinces and Places, is cut off: and all the other Ships, Goods, and Men coming from thence, muſt perform a Quarentine of 28 Days.

They write from Montagnie in Normandie, the 4th Inſt. that about the Cloſe of laſt Year, there happen'd a tragical Accident in a Village near that Place, occaſion'd by the too great Credulity of the People in Witchcraft and Enchantment. A Man of that Village had been long ill of a Diſtemper that baffled the Art of Phyſick; whereupon his Wife would have it that he was bewitched, and went to conſult a pretended Conjurer who lived a few Leagues off. After he had ask'd her ſeveral Queſtions, he pretended to ſhew her the Wizard in a Glaſs of Water, who was her Husband's Uncle; and told her, they muſt force him to withdraw the Charm by beating him, and burning the Soles of his Feet. When ſhe came home, ſhe told her Relations what had paſs'd, and deſired them to come to her Houſe and aſſiſt her in the Execution. She ſent for her Husband's Uncle, and they beat the poor Man unmercifully, notwithſtanding all his Proteſtations of Innocence, and burnt the Soles of his Feet and the Crown of his Head with a red-hot Fire-Shovel; and when they had done, they carry'd him home, where he lay in Torture two Days, and then died, having received all the Sacraments. The chief Magiſtrate of Mortagne hearing of it, ordered the Body to be taken up and ſearched; when the Marks of his barbarous Uſage were but too viſible. Upon this, the Provoſt ordered the Wife and all her Accomplices to be ſeized; and the Woman not only declared the whole Truth, but ſaid, if it was to do again, ſhe would do it.

Extract of a Private Letter from DRESDEN.

We have lately received from a good Hand, the following Account of the Original Cauſe of the Difference between this Court and that of Vienna, which occaſion'd the Quarrel between Count Heym and Count Seckendorff.

The Imperial Court having received Information from their Miniſters in France, that the Cardinal de Fleury knew every Tittle of what was tranſacted here between the Imperial, Saxon, and Pruſſian Miniſters, they complain'd thereof to the King our Elector, and Prince Eugene of Savoy wrote him a long Letter about it, which his Majeſty deliver'd to his Cabinet-Council, who where charged therein with Infidelity. Thoſe Miniſters, ſtung with an Accuſation of ſo heinous a Nature, drew up a Memorial of eight or ten Pages, wherein they retorted the Charge home upon the Imperial Miniſters; and running over all the Negotiations for ſome Years paſt, and the Snares laid for his Poliſh Majeſty by his good Friends Teeth outwards, they ſpared neither the Emperor, nor Prince Eugene, nor the other Miniſters; and this Manifeſto they deliver'd to the King in their own Vindication, after they had complain'd to him in particular of the Freedoms taken by Count Seckendorff, who of his own Authority enter'd his Majeſty's Apartment whenever he was here, without asking any Queſtions, as he had always done at Berlin, where he goes to the King directly, without conſulting any of the Miniſters, or ſo much as acquainting them with his Deſign. His Poliſh Majeſty having read this long Story, and judging it to be an ample Vindication of his Miniſters, he ſent it to the Court of Vienna. However, the Count de Manteuffel's Conduct not turning out altogether irreproachable, with Regard to a Secret Correſpondence either with the Court of France, or that of Chambord, he owed his Diſgrace to that Surmize. It is eaſy to gueſs what a Reception that Manifeſto met with at Vienna. The Emperor, who was but ill blazon'd therein by the Saxon Miniſters, reſented it to a high Degree; and the Force of Reaſons of State was never more apparent, than in the Reconciliation of two Princes and their Miniſters, who, to any one's thinking, would have been implacable Enemies. But thus it is; the Intereſt of the two Courts is ſo twined together, that they muſt not ſeparate at any rate.

N. B. As 'tis very probable ſeveral, who might be inclinable to Subſcribe to this WORK, may be offended at the Price, which cannot be reduc'd on account of the extraordinary Expences, that will unavoidably attend the Decorations; the Author hopes the following Quotation from the late celebrated Archbiſhop of CAMBRAY, in favour of Emblematic Prints, will juſtify his Attempt, obviate the Objections of ſuch frugal Parents, and demonſtrate that Cuts not only ſtrongly imprint on the Minds of Children what they ſee; but preciſely ſhew them for what they are to learn, in time to come. His Grace, after ſome previous Inſtructions to ſuch Tutors, who have both Inclination and Capacity for the good Conduct and Government of Youth, proceeds in the following Terms.

"You may moreover add to your Diſcourſe, the better to enliven it, and "impreſs it on the Minds of Children, and young Perſons, the Help either "of Paintings, or of Prints, which will, in a pleaſant Dreſs, repreſent to "them any Story that you ſhall occaſionally think proper to illuſtrate. "Prints may ſuffice; they will ſerve at leaſt for your ordinary Uſe; but "when you ſhall have an Opportunity of ſhewing Children good Pictures "it ſhould not, I think, be neglected".
